

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN INCLUSIVE TEACHING STRATEGIES IN COLLEGE

The Graduate Certificate in Inclusive Teaching Strategies in College will provide students with theoretical knowledge and practical skills to effectively deliver face-to-face, hybrid, and online instruction in various post-secondary education settings including community colleges and large universities.

Students interested in graduate work should refer to the Graduate and Professional Bulletin (<http://catalog.colostate.edu/general-catalog/graduate-bulletin/>).

Learning Objectives

1. To prepare learners to effectively facilitate learning experiences within a post-secondary education environment.
2. To assist learners in becoming critically reflective practitioners capable of conducting courses within culturally diverse settings.
3. To encourage learners' individual and professional growth through collaborative and project-based learning environments.

Requirements Effective Spring 2025

Additional coursework may be required due to prerequisites.

Code	Title	Credits
Required Courses:
EDAE 620	Processes and Methods	3
EDAE 664	Assessment and Evaluation in Adult Education	3
EDHE 649	Inclusive College Teaching	3
Choose one course from those below:		3
EDHE 673	Student Development Theory
EDHE 773	Student Development in a Collegiate Context
Program Total Credits:		12

*This certificate may have courses in common with other graduate certificates. A student may earn more than one certificate, but a given course may be counted only in one certificate.